

Third Party's Electoral Campaign Return (EC 20228) – Instructions

When to use this form

This form is mandatory for all registered third parties. An audit report must be submitted on the return if expenses totalling $10,000 or more were incurred for regulated activities*.

This form is due four months after election day.

*Regulated activities are partisan activities, election surveys, partisan advertising and election advertising that take place during the pre-election period or the election period.

Reporting period

The reporting period will differ depending on whether or not the general election was held on a fixed date.

For a fixed-date general election, report the following:

- contributions and loans received for regulated activities between the day after the last general election and election day
- expenses incurred for regulated activities that take place between June 30 and election day

For a general election held other than on a fixed date, report the following:

- contributions and loans received for regulated activities between the day after the last general election and election day
- expenses incurred for regulated activities that take place during the election period

Tips for completing this form

Part 1

Declaration:

The declaration must be signed by the financial agent and the person who signed the third party's application for registration (if different from the financial agent).

Parts 2a and 2b

List all monetary and non-monetary contributions received by the third party during the reporting period for the purpose of regulated activities.

Enter the full name and address of every contributor who contributed or loaned a total of more than $200 during that period. If the contributor is a numbered company, also include the name of the company's chief executive officer or president.

Monetary and non-monetary contributions from contributors who contributed or loaned a total of $200 or less during that period are only reported by contributor type. Record this on the last page used for that Part.

If the third party is unable to identify which contributions were received for regulated activities, it must list the name and address of every contributor who contributed or loaned a total of more than $200 for any purpose during the reporting period.

Part 2c

Record the loans received during the reporting period to finance regulated activities.

For each operating loan obtained from a lender who contributed or loaned a total of more than $200 during that period, enter the full name and address. If the lender is a numbered company, also include the name of the company's chief executive officer or president.

Loans from lenders who contributed or loaned a total of $200 or less during that period are only reported by lender type.

If the third party is unable to identify which loans were received to finance regulated activities, it must list the name and address of every lender who loaned or contributed a total of more than $200 for any purpose during the reporting period.

Part 2d

To determine the total campaign inflows, carry forward the total amounts and the numbers of contributors and lenders from each Part to the corresponding boxes. Additionally, if the third party used any of its own resources for regulated activities, enter the amount used.

Part 3a

For a fixed-date general election, list the expenses incurred during the reporting period for regulated activities that take place during the pre-election period. These include non-monetary contributions and unpaid expenses. If the expense was incurred to promote or oppose one or more candidates in a given electoral district, enter the ED code of that electoral district. When recording the place a partisan activity occurred or partisan advertising was transmitted, enter a geographic location, an electoral district or "National" if it took place across the country. For a list of ED codes, refer to Annex I.

Expense types, categories and subcategories:

For a complete list of applicable expense types, expense categories and expense subcategories, refer to Annex II.

Part 3b

List the expenses incurred during the reporting period for regulated activities that take place during the election period. These include non-monetary contributions and unpaid expenses. If the expense was incurred to promote or oppose one or more candidates in a given electoral district, enter the ED code of that electoral district. When recording the place a partisan activity occurred or election advertising was transmitted, enter a geographic location, an electoral district or "National" if it took place across the country. For a list of ED codes, refer to Annex I.

Expense types, categories and subcategories:

For a complete list of applicable expense types, expense categories and expense subcategories, refer to Annex II.

Part 3c

To determine the total campaign outflows, carry forward the total amounts from parts 3a and 3b. Enter the spending limits for both the pre-election and election periods.

Supporting documents

Third parties must keep the documents evidencing their financial transactions. These include invoices, bank statements, deposit slips and cancelled cheques. At the request of Elections Canada, third parties are required to provide supporting documentation.
